

Ante Žigman, PhD, graduated from the Faculty of Economics and Business, University of Zagreb, where he later obtained his master's and doctorate degree. He started his professional career in 1997, at the Analysis Division of the Croatian National Bank. From 2000 to 2004, he worked at the Raiffesen Bank as the Head of Macroeconomic and Financial Research Division and the Chief Economist. In February 2004, he got employed at the Ministry of Finance, where he was Assistant Minister for Macroeconomic Analysis and Planning, and from 2005 he was the State Secretary. In 2008, he became the Board Member at the Partner Bank, and in 2011 he returned to the Croatian National Bank where he worked as a Senior Adviser until being appointed President of the Board of Hanfa in February 2018.

He has written numerous scientific and expert papers in the field of fiscal policy and finance and he is a lecturer in the area of economics and finance. He served as the vice president of the Committee for Fiscal Policy of the Croatian Parliament, and member of the Economic and Financial Committee's Sub-Committee on EU Sovereign Debt Markets.