Pierpaolo Marano

I am a tenured Professor of law and regulation and I lecture at the Catholic University of Milan, the University of Malta, and the University of Latvia. I graduated in law from the Catholic University and hold a PhD in banking law and regulation from the University of Siena. I am currently a Visiting Research Fellow at the University of Reading, an Honorary Fellow at the Asian Institute of International Financial Law of the University of Hong Kong, and a scholar in residence at the University of Connecticut–Insurance Law Center from 2010 to 2021.

My current teaching portfolio includes EU Insurance law and regulation, Fintech/Insurtech Regulations, Corporate Governance of Insurance Undertakings, EU Risk Governance Regulation, Corporate Finance Law, EU Pension Funds and Products, and Governance Regulations and Compliance Management.

As a visiting professor, I have had the privilege of delivering courses on EU insurance law and regulations at esteemed institutions such as the University of Connecticut, National Taiwan University, University of International Business and Economics (Beijing), Kozminski University (Warsaw), Gujarat National Law University and, in July 2024, China University of Political Science and Law.

Moreover, I have been a visiting lecturer giving lessons/seminars on topics related to the EU insurance law and regulations at the Katholieke Universiteit Leuven, The Chinese University of Hong Kong, the Southwest University of Political Science and Law (Chongqing), the University of Vilnius, the Japanese Institute of Life Insurance, Universidad Autonoma de Madrid, Universidade Nova de Lisboa, University of Exeter, University of Hong Kong - AIIFL, Universiti Selangor (Malaysia), Warsaw School of Economics, University of Labour and Social Affairs (Hanoi), Pontificia Universidad Catolica de Chile, Universidad de Montevideo, CEVRO Institute (Prague), City University of Hong Kong.

My professional and intellectual interest in EU insurance regulation is unwavering. I am eager to contribute to the harmonisation process of such regulation, and my experience at the IRSG is exceptionally relevant to this purpose.
